

Zemek, Wife and Babies, Parties to Near-Tragedy

Louis Zemek, Polish laborer, taken to police court yesterday by a second hand dealer, from whom he had attempted to buy a revolver to kill Edward Hasky, is evidently on a still hunt for his missing family. Zemek swore to a warrant charging Hasky, a fellow countryman, with having decamped with his wife and two children. Since the issuance of the warrant, the police have not heard from Zemek. Yesterday Zemek said he did not care if his wife left him, but he intended to recover his two babies. The police so far have found no trace of Hasky or Mrs. Zemek. The accompanying halftone shows Zemek, his wife and children.
