

MAN KILLED BY CAVE-IN

Laborer in Sewer Trench Caught by Slide of Earth.

Buried 30 minutes under a caved-in bank of earth, at Patton avenue and Alberta street, yesterday morning, Odin Anderson, a Norwegian laborer, was taken out dead by his fellow laborers, after a feverish attack upon the several feet of earth that covered him. Dr. Stone was in attendance before the entombed man was uncovered, but his efforts to resuscitate Anderson were without avail.

Anderson was one of a gang working for William Lind, contractor, in a sewer ditch 2½ feet wide and 15 feet deep. Recent rains had made the bank difficult to hold, and without warning, yesterday morning, a large section of the wall broke off at the point where Anderson was working and covered him. Other laborers had narrow escapes, but were at sufficient distance from the cave-in to get out of the way before the earth fell.

All of the workmen at once began throwing the earth out of the ditch, but half an hour elapsed before Anderson could be removed.

Anderson was married and his wife is employed at the clothing store of Ben Selling. They had no children. He lived at 611 Clinton street.
