

DYNAMITE FUSE FAILS

---

ATTEMPT MADE TO BLOW UP GREEKS AT MILTON.

---

Mistaken Impression That Foreigners
Work for Low Wages, Responsible for Hostility.

---

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 1.—(Special)—Only the failure of the fuse to burn prevented the blowing up of the dwelling of five Greeks employed by the Milton Nursery Company at Milton, Or. Three pieces of dynamite, a fuse that failed to burn and a burned match are the evidences of the crime that was attempted. These were found under a corner of the house occupied by the Greeks. Prejudice against Greek labor is held responsible for the attempt.

One of the Greeks going to the woodpile noticed the dynamite half concealed in a rat hole.

Greek labor has been unpopular in Milton for years, and last year the same Greeks received anonymous letters threatening them. While they receive the same wages that Americans do, the impression was prevalent that they are cutting wages.

The authorities have no clew.