

WOMAN KILLED IN A RIOT

Greek Laborers Resent Bumping Into Quarters.

Fight Follows and Woman Is Shot, Eighty Offenders Being Arrested by a Deputy Sheriff.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11.—A special dispatch to the Evening Telegram from Riddle, Ore., says:

Four score of excited Greek laborers fought with the crew of a freight train at Glenbrook Crossing, near this town, last night. Early in the evening, the report is, the laborers became involved in a quarrel with their foreman, named Petersteim, and in a shooting that followed Mrs. Petersteim was killed outright. One of the laborers was wounded.

The crew of an extra southbound freight train came to the foreman's assistance and held the Greeks in check for some time. Word was sent to Roseburg, and a special train with Deputy Sheriff Bogard and 50 armed men was sent out by Dispatcher Morris. Bogard and his men have arrested all the Greeks, who are now on their way to Roseburg.

Cause of the Trouble.

It is said that the train crew allowed their train to bump into the Greeks' living car, which angered the workmen. They protested to the foreman. The train crew and the laborers then became entangled, and a general fight followed.

When Bogard arrived last night with his men he distributed them around the barricaded cars and sent word to the Greeks that they must surrender the men who shot Mrs. Petersteim or he would open fire on them. After some parley and an exchange of shots the workmen came from the cars and about 80 of them were hustled on board the special train and hurried back to Roseburg.
